Re: Revised Special Events Ordinance(s)

---

For your review, you have the following proposed Ordinance amendments regarding Special Events.

The first involves the Business Tax Receipt (BTR) requirements. Currently, each individual vendor is required to secure a BTR to operate their business in the city. The proposed Ordinance would only apply the tax to the event coordinator, while retaining the $25 Special Events application fee for processing.

The second involves limits on the number of times per year Special Events can be held per property type.

Summary of agreed upon amendments to the Zoning Code regarding Special Events.

1. Code section 113.39 –
  - a. Event Coordinators will be charged $52.09 per day.
  - b. No individual vendor fees.
  - c. Businesses which already have a Business Tax Receipt with the City are exempt from these charges; however, they still need to obtain a Special Events application which charges $25 for processing.

2. Code section 132.27 –
  - a. Properties are limited to two (2) events per year.
  - b. Properties of 7.5 acres or greater are limited to 12 events per year.
  - c. Religious, philanthropic and civic properties do not have limits on the number of special events they can conduct per year.

The Development Services Department is seeking the Economic Development Councils support with the proposed amendments.
